

Music Faculty, Students Attend Iowa Convention

Sister Mary St. Ruth, B.V.M., and Sister Mary Thomas Aquinas, B.V.M., of the Clarke music faculty, and nine music majors left Wednesday night for Davenport where they are representing the college at a three-day convention of the National Music Educators association and the National Catholic Iowa Conference.

Four seniors and five juniors, all members of the student chapter 191 of the Music Educators National Conference, are attending the convention. They are Myrna Johnson, Helen Hutchinson, Joan Hugron, Jacqueline Sullivan, Mary Virginia Schuster, Rosemary Ritts, Mary Elaine Drew, Patricia Morrey and Janet Mullen.

The Clarke Trio, composed of Miss Hugron, pianist; Mary May, cellist; and Judith Grills, violinist, was selected to open the convention program yesterday afternoon at the Masonic Temple in Davenport. The group presented Bach's Spring Awakening and Strauss' Pizzicata Polka.

This evening Miss Johnson and Miss Mullen will demonstrate piano techniques in connection with a lecture to be given by Miss Ada Richter, of Philadelphia, at the Immaculate Conception Academy in Davenport.

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Eldon Imhoff, of Davenport, president of the college alumnae association, will be hostess to the Quad-City Clarke alumnae at a reception at her home in honor of the Clarke music group.

Two Priests Lead Final Conferences In Marriage Clinic

The Marriage Clinic terminates this weekend with the Reverend C. C. Whitford, S.J., of Marquette university, and the Reverend William T. Clark, promoter of the Cana movement in Chicago, conducting the final sessions. This last conference deals with the spiritual welfare of the family.

Hostesses for the weekend will be Jackie Shank, Charlene Reilly, Janet Weber and Sheila Hogan.

The clinic, third quarter project of the Student Leadership Council, has been conducted for five successive weeks. One hundred and fifty Clarke girls took advantage of this opportunity to gain practical advice on the problems of marriage. The informal discussions were led by two recent brides, two young mothers, two doctors, two lawyers, and two priests.

Drama Chairman Names Cast For Jeanne D'Arc Production

Ann Donavon, who shared the lead in last year's play, Victoria Regina, will alternate in the leading role of Jeanne with Rosemary Rapp in this year's spring production, Jeanne D'Arc, to be given May 7, 8 and 9 in the college theatre.

The choric drama is under the direction of Sister Mary Leola, B.V.M., chairman of the drama department. Sister will be assisted by Miss Laura Wright and by student director Jane Mitchell. Miss Mitchell will also give the prologue.

Former Students Become Novices

Four former Clarke students will be received and one will be professed in a simple and impressive ceremony tomorrow morning at the Mount Carmel Novitiate. His Excellency, the Most Reverend Henry P. Rohlmann, D.D., archbishop of Dubuque, will officiate.

The group of new novices will include Sue Rink, Dubuque, last year's Student Leadership Council president; Mary Kelliher, Casper, Wyo., a member of last year's junior class; Dolores Kramer, Waterloo, a sophomore last year; and Margie Carey, Chicago, secretary of last year's freshman class. The four will receive the habit of the Sisters of Charity, B.V.M., and their religious names.

First vows will be pronounced by Sister Mary St. Edith, B.V.M., the former Lucille Dunn, ex '48.

Myrna Johnson To Be Presented In Senior Recital

Myrna Johnson will be presented by the music department in her senior piano recital Sunday evening, April 3, at 8:15 p.m. in the college auditorium. Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnson of Hammond, Indiana.

Assisting Miss Johnson on the program will be a trio composed of Joan Hugron, pianist; Mary May, cellist; and Judith Grills, violinist.

The musical selections to be played are as follows:

Sonata in D Major, Opus 9—Mozart
Spring's Awakening—C. P. E. Bach
Trio

Rhapsody in B Minor—Brahms
Elegy—Rachmaninoff

The Juggler—Tch
Opus 99 in B Flat Major—Shubert
Trio

Second Piano Concerto—Rachmaninoff
Orchestral Accompaniment

Maryann Nachowicz
Miss Johnson has been studying piano for over eight years and during her career at Clarke has appeared in many concerts and recitals. Last year she was awarded first prize in a city-wide piano contest sponsored by a radio program over station KDTN.

Other Roles
Vain, frivolous Aleta will be portrayed by Dorothy Watson. Maribeth DeWitt is Marie, the youngest and simplest of the group.
Nancy Lingo will be Jacqueline who is interested in people for their own sake. She delights in being the first to bring some choice bit of information to the others.
The Duchess D'Alencon, played by Therese Weigand, is fair-minded and passionate in her defense of Jeanne.
Eileen Kuennen will play Jeanne's little sister, Catherine, and Bobby Klauer will be her brother, Francois. These children are from St. Anthony's grammar school.

Verse Choir
A 19-voice Verse Speaking Choir will carry the story of the play at the interludes and will also form the jury in the last episode. The group includes Marianne Anderson, Lillian Cunningham, Dolores Klassen, Peggy Gaffney, Eleanor Grotkin, Helen McMahon, Elaine Ripley, Barbara Stavros, Mary Redus, Eleanor Rossiter, Nancy Anderson, Mary Calkins, Jeanne Curran, Dolores Kahover, Mary McQuaid, Pat O'Malley, Pat Regan, Mildred Roth and Mary Fran O'Byrne.

College Patronal First Day Will Be Celebrated Tomorrow

Clarke students will begin their traditional observance of the feast of St. Joseph, patron saint of the college, with High Mass in the Chapel of the Sacred Heart tomorrow at 7:30. The Reverend Lawrence Guter will be the celebrant.

The Gregorian Mass, Cum Jubilo, will be sung by the college Schola. The group will also sing the propers of the Mass and an offertory hymn.

President Serves On Committee At NCEA Meeting

Sister Mary Anne Leone, B.V.M., president of Clarke, will serve on the nominating committee of the Midwest College and University department of the National Catholic Education association which will hold its annual meeting March 29 at the Palmer House in Chicago.

Sister Mary Crescentia, B.V.M., dean, and Sister Mary Eunice, B.V.M., registrar, will also attend the convention.

Salve Pater Salvatoris, written by Sister Mary Editha, B.V.M.

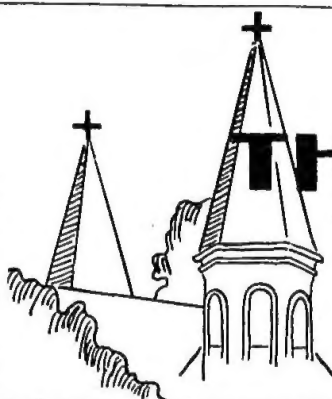

The Blessed Sacrament will remain exposed in the Chapel for adoration throughout the entire day.

Bishop Fitzgerald Talks

Evening events will include an address to the students and faculty by the Most Reverend Edward A. Fitzgerald, auxiliary bishop of Dubuque, at 7:30 in the Sacred Heart Chapel. Bishop Fitzgerald will then officiate at solemn Benediction which will close the 13-hours devotion. He will be assisted at Benediction by Father Halbach, master of ceremonies, and the Reverends George Schulte, William Collins and Cyril Reilly.

Members of Schola

Two new wide-field microscopes, gifts of alumna Katherine Connolly, M.D., of Seattle, Wash., to the science department, prove invaluable to bacteriology students. Above, three senior biology majors, Lois Schlueter, Elaine Kuhl and Patricia Lalley, use the microscopes in their work on penicillin.

Teen-Page Editor Is Guest Speaker For Press Club

The Reverend Clarence J. Raker, associate editor of the Witness, will speak to the members of the Press Club next Wednesday evening, March 23, at 8:15 in the Solarium of Administration hall.

The meeting will be in the form of a discussion, with special focus on the requisites for the written material to be used on the Teen Age Page of the Witness.

The new members of the Club will be received and the winner of the limerick contest announced.

A literary board of experts, composed of Lucille Mullen, Peggy Sullivan and Eunice Shackelford, will act as critics for any works written by Press Club members.

The purpose of this club is to encourage Catholic writing, with the motto, "To Live by the Pen."

Soph Comprehensives

Sophomore comprehensive tests are scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday, March 22 and 23, from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The tests will be in three sections, English, General Culture and Contemporary Affairs.

Pianist Is Artist On Next Program In Concert Series

Miss Lillian Najarian, pianist, will present the fifth concert in the Clarke Concert-Lecture Series Tuesday evening, March 29, at 8:15 in the college auditorium.

Miss Najarian, a 22-year-old Chicagoan, is at the present time on the faculty of the Chicago Musical college where she is also working for her master's degree. She has studied under Dr. Rudolph Ganz and other notable teachers and has performed in many public recitals.

Spring Carnival To Be Sponsored By NFCCS, SLC

With European Student Relief as their purpose, and $1,000 as their goal, the SLC and NFCCS are sponsoring a spring carnival.

To be given with the support of the entire school, the carnival will be under the direction of general chairman Virginia Wiltgen and Mary Hoyman. Miss Wiltgen is Clarke Student Relief chairman and Miss Hoyman is SLC vice-president.

A committee consisting of Miss Hoyman, Jane Mitchell, Miss Wiltgen, Myrna Johnson, Peggy Sullivan, Eleanor Rossiter, Peggy Sweeney, Therese Ann Aid, Brenda Benda, Jane Greteman, Mary Green and Therese Fox, has been at work drawing up the plans.

The carnival will be a one-day—afternoon and evening—affair. The student body will be divided into two groups. One-half will participate in the afternoon session, which will be for school children. The other half will help out in the evening. There

Gratefully Yours . . .

For giving us a complete pattern of life, we, the Freshman class of '49, thank Clarke College. Each of us has been privileged to partake in a balanced college program of studies and activities—the culmination of over one hundred years of experience.

The Clarke curriculum stresses the importance of physical, as well as mental fitness. We have had every advantage to spend leisure hours in the pool, bowling alleys and gym.

Tending toward our personal development were the teas, receptions, proms, and "mixers," which have helped us to attain social maturity. Our cultural taste, too, has been quickened by meeting representative artists through the Concert-Lecture series.

Those intangible lessons which we have learned—cooperation with classmates, leadership on committees, unselfishness with roommates—have imperceptibly made us better citizens of tomorrow, with a deeper awareness of community responsibilities.

A program of professional guidance, including aptitude tests and personal conferences with faculty members and advisers, has placed us on the way to economic competency. The Freshman Declamatory Contest and Panel-Board Discussion have been ample proof of what we have already attained from our college training.

But most important, we have fallen heirs to a century-old scholastic year, rich with Clarke traditions. The candle-light procession on the feast of Christ the King; the class shrines to Our Lady on December 8; the Christmas Cantata; the annual retreat—all of these have served to deepen our faith and the awareness of our part in the Mystical Body.

For cultivating in us a "love for what is good, true, and beautiful," we, the Class of '52, wish to thank the faculty of Clarke College. It has helped to make each of us a more completely integrated Christian personality—more complete physically, intellectually and spiritually.

St. Joseph and Clarke

Ordinarily, schools celebrate their patronal feasts with parties and free days. At Clarke, St. Joseph's day is marked by 13-hours devotion beginning with High Mass and ending with solemn Benediction. Why do Clarkites so observe their patronal feast?

The Sisters of Charity, B.V.M., since their earliest days, have had a deep devotion to St. Joseph, the father-protector of the Holy Family. Mother Clarke and her band looked to him as their protector and he never failed them. Their material as well as their spiritual needs were provided.

It was in Philadelphia's St. Joseph's church that Mary Frances Clarke met Father Terence Donaghoe, the priest who was to be closely connected with the foundation of her religious community.

The community's archives record many provident donations of money and food which the Sisters have attributed to the care of St. Joseph. Penniless and without friends Mother Clarke and her co-foundresses arrived in Philadelphia. When they left for Mass one morning there was no food in the house. On their return, breakfast was on the table. An Irish neighbor woman had thought the "nuns might like a bit of something after Mass."

At another time the Sisters were faced with a pressing debt which they could not meet. The morning the debt was due, a man came to the convent door and gave the sister-portress an envelope for Mother Clarke. The envelope contained the exact amount to pay the debt.

When the Sisters, at the invitation of Bishop Loras, established their mother house near Dubuque, they named it St. Joseph's convent. Later they established Mount St. Joseph Academy which developed into Mount St. Joseph College. In 1928, Mount St. Joseph's became Clarke College, named in honor of Mary Frances Clarke, a woman who trusted in the providence of God and the protection of St. Joseph.

Gratitude motivates Clarkites' devotion to St. Joseph—gratitude for his care of Mary Frances Clarke and the women who joined in her work—gratitude for the opportunity of Catholic education which he watches over.

'Oh, Tell Us Why,' Frosh Reporters Implore Seniors

The illustrious seniors are probably saying to themselves, "These curious freshmen!" Why?

Recently some of them were approached by these roving reporters with some questions the freshmen thought the seniors ought to be able to answer.

From behind the covers of a chemistry book Jane Greteman asked in utter discouragement, "Are you still sane after four years of Chemistry?" . . . Lillian Cunningham, a chem major, who just recently passed her comprehensives, answered right back, "Of course I'm sane. But no one else is." Freshman Roses Martin came out with her usual question, "When do we eat?" . . . Lucille Lee had a quick answer to that one, "When you hear the thud of my little feet."

Foolish Question

Three seniors answered Pat Kies' question, "Do you feel like a genius?" . . . Dolly Classen and Jackie Sullivan replied in unison, "We would if we passed philosophy."

While Helen McMahon says, "I am one (it says here) so why shouldn't I feel like one?"

Lourdell Schuster seems to be well-informed about last year's goings on, because she wanted to know "What happened to Isabel Brown?" . . . Jane Mitchell supplied the solution, "Isabelle never returned her coke bottles so the company took her as payment."

Where To?

Helen Mier and Ginny Heitkamp seemed to have the same idea concerning Mary Lou Youngman's question, "Four years ago where were the 'Freshmen going double file'?" . . . Helen said, "Over to Loras Academy for dates." While Ginny's answer was, "We were going over to Loras for basketball games." . . . "Was it worth it?" sighed Maryhaller Joan Berghoff,

What Does It Mean?

"The riddle within an enigma" has set diplomatic leaders the world over on a speculative spree. No one knows just what Josef Stalin's motive is for withdrawing Vyacheslav M. Molotov from the duties of Prime Minister of Foreign Affairs and installing the fiery Andrei Y. Vishinsky in his place.

It may indicate a change in the Kremlin's policy one way or another. Stalin may be set on one more all-out fight against the West or he may desire to inaugurate a more cooperative policy.

A prominent U. N. member contends that this shift is a promotion for Molotov, that the aging Stalin is schooling him for the dictatorship. Molotov has been number two man in the Soviet regime since 1939 and a member of the elite politburo.

Others detect the Russian ruler's dissatisfaction in Molotov's diplomatic endeavors. The Russian forces failed to win Norway's support in signing its non-aggression pact. Norway announced she was tossing her hat in the Western European ring along with the United States and Canada. Scandinavia also joined the new Western defense bloc. Along with these diplomatic defeats, the Air Lift project has turned the Berlin blockade into a farce.

But since every act of the Kremlin is shrouded in secrecy, statesmen can only conjecture as to the motive and keep an optimistic attitude towards the results.

If any country other than Russia had changed foreign ministers it would have caused little alarm among world governments. But no country can afford to take its eyes off Russia for a minute. Each one must scrutinize with care every move she makes. She is recognized as a powerful force bent on world revolution. Such a revolution would subject all peoples to the Soviet's fanatical economic system and atheistic philosophy.

This realization should bring all of us down on our knees, with rosaries in hand, beseeching our Lady of Fatima to halt the Russian menace.

How ready are your knees???

In the College Light

LENTEN VALUES

Right now we're all attempting to keep the resolutions which we made for Lent. Probably some of those promises have proved more difficult than we thought they would be. In fact, life at the moment may appear unusually bleak, but it really shouldn't if we realize the purpose of the season of Lent. In "How To Keep Lent And Like It" in the March 5 issue of America, Mary Tinley Daly says, "Coinciding as it does with the first inner growth of plants before they are ready to spring into the life of the world, it (Lent) can be a like period in the souls of men. And it can be a joyful period."

HAVE A GOOD YAWN

Although we yawn innumerable times a day, less is known about it than any other common phenomenon. However, according to the March issue of the Catholic Digest, the yawn has now taken on new importance in the medical profession. From recent experiments doctors have learned that yawning speeds up circulation, relaxes the nerves, and increases muscular efficiency. Yawning really affords you a free health treatment!

HEALTH SPOTS

Although they aren't listed on the map of the U. S., there are two major health belts, where men are stronger, women more beautiful, and children healthier. According to "What Makes You Healthy," in the most recent issue of the Journal, the U. S. Selective Service began a study of the men accepted by the draft. Though all the states turned out thousands, the Northwest East and South. Washington turned out the highest number; Wyoming rated first in freedom from mental diseases; Oregon rated first in freedom from tuberculosis. In the second prime interesting is the fact that in Kansas, 60 percent of the men examined were practically flawless. Evidently good soil and wide open spaces play important parts in the health of people.

OUR RIVER

This month's issue of Holiday has a lengthy article on the Mississippi River. The story of this river is an epic of conflict between river and man. A thousand tales make up the history of this "Father of Waters" which flows along 2500 twisting treacherous miles. Perhaps you all have marveled at its grandeur but have never been able to express as eloquently as a young Frenchman, De Tocqueville, who described the Mississippi as "the most magnificent dwelling place prepared by God for man's abode."

MORE ON MARRIAGE

Now that the Marriage Clinic is stimulating interest in discussions on marriage, "Making Marriage Work" in this month's Journal will be of interest. In advising people to do some thinking concerning marriage, Clifton Adams says: "Your marriage is your affair, but not yours alone. It rests upon the emotional relationship, delicate and difficult, of two people, but this relationship affects their parents, their children, their friends and the community."

A PLACE IN THE ORIENT

Of interest to home ec students is a report in the Journal of Home Economics. According to this report from the Orient, though home economics is in a pioneer stage there, great interest is being shown by governments, missions, and universities. Advancement is being hindered by lack of adequately trained staffs and limited facilities. If you have the "Daniel Boone" spirit, here is a new "frontier" for you.

STORY HOUR

Spring seems to bring a quest for new short story writers. If you aspire to see your name in print and your story listed in the contents of a popular magazine, Mademoiselle and Kappa Gamma Phi are two sponsors of the many short story contests which are willing to help you realize your ambition. To aid you in writing a "prize winner," many leading magazines are publishing articles on how to write successful short stories.

Biology Majors Discuss Mental Health at Quarterly Meeting

The Biology Forum welcomed the sophomore biology majors and other guests at its open meeting March 9 in the Science hall.

Mental health, the topic of discussion, was introduced by Lois Schluter, chairman of the meeting.

In her presentation of Pathological Behavior Patterns and Mental Illness, Lucille Lee, the first speaker, pointed out that much abnormal behavior is the normal throw into high relief, and if these abnormal reactions become persistent they result in pathological behavior. Elaine Kuhl's paper on the various aspects of fear followed.

Miss Lee's report.

Repertoire Hour Features Freshman Debutantes

Freshman debuts highlighted the March 11 Repertoire Hour when students of voice, music and speech displayed their talents in the solarium.

Dorothy Watson, junior speech student, acted as mistress of ceremonies. A veteran performer, junior Janet Muller, opened the program with Bach's Prelude Number 5 in D Major. Senior Myrna Johnson presented her interpretation of the second movement of the D Major Sonata, Opus 9 by Mozart.

By the way of variety Kathryn McCarty offered a humorous reading, "Talking It Over." Mary Elaine Drew played Polichinelle by Rachmaninoff.

Freshman debutantes on the Repertoire program included Edith Pearson who played Fear Elise, at the piano, and Joan Keller, mezzo soprano, who sang Sing Me to Sleep by Greene and The Lilac Tree by Gardiam. Patricia McInerney accompanied Miss Keller.

Junior Eileen Muehl, also making her first Repertoire appearance, brought the program to a close with the singing of Aria by Handel. Her accompanist was Phyllis Smythe.

Carnival . . .

will be appropriate games and booths for each age group.

The Planning committee has also named three other major committees. The Publicity committee is under the chairmanship of Jane Mitchell. Part of their job will be visiting Dubuque high schools and grammar schools to tell them about the special afternoon session. Janet Blomgren heads the Decoration committee, while Rosalie Glanz is chairman of the Prize committee.

It is the plan of the committee that every girl participate in the carnival. Small groups of girls will plan, set up and decorate the booths.

Spring Edition of Labarum To Be Published Next Friday

The lead essay of the Labarum, which will make its appearance next Friday, is a timely article by Joan Delaney, junior editor, who in her "Revolution," examines the Christian liberal arts tradition.

A special feature of the magazine will be "The Christian In Action," a freshmen symposium organized by Mary Freyman, Gloria Hart, Kathy Leonard and Marilyn Tritz, which deals with the central problem of the lay apostolate.

Discusses Writer Elizabeth Barrell, freshman, makes a critical estimation of the English short story writer in her article, "The Art Of Katherine Mansfield." Freshman Catherine Culhane contributes a humorous touch to the essay section in "Sitting Pretty," an entertaining account of the woes of baby sitting.

"Dinner Date," by Jeanne Heitkamp, reveals a psychological cross section of a minor crisis. The hilarious story of a romantic plot which almost fizzled is narrated in

Immaculate Senior Takes First Place In Clarke Contest

Jeanne Munro, senior at the Immaculate high school, Chicago, has been awarded the first prize of $10 in the second annual high school essay contest sponsored by the Clarke Press club for her humorous essay, "On Driving Lessons."

Second honors and a prize of $5 went to Marjorie Brehm, Immaculate Conception Academy, Dubuque, who also received first honorable mention for a second humorous essay. Another Chicagoan, Mary Whalen, of Saint Mary's High School, received third place. Honorable mention was given to Miss Brehm and Dorothy Culhane, also from the Immaculate.

The Reverend James J. Donahue, author of Exile Among the Stars and The Origin of Literary Kinds, judged the essays. The purpose of the contest, which was open to all high school seniors in the midwest area, was to promote Catholic writing.

'Twas a 'Foine' Celebration At O'Clarke on St. Pat's Day

By Patricia Keenan

Sure and 'twas a happy day for everybody at Clarke yesterday.

It was THE day for the freshmen and they most certainly did display their green more prominently than ever. Living up to the old tradition of presenting a program on St. Patrick's day they showed their true color, green that it is.

Fifteen beautiful Irish collars served dinner in the greenly decorated dining hall. They were Patricia O'Malley, Patricia Best, Thekla Good, Camille Jacques, Jean Prebis, Patricia Myrna Johnson and Joan Costello, president and vice-president of the SLC, represented Clarke at the Mid-west Conference on Student Government held March 4, 5 and 6 in Winona, Minn. Over 100 delegates from 28 colleges were present.

The theme of the convention was the formation of better school government. The general resolutions passed are now being made into printed booklet form and will be sent to the participating schools on completion.

Ideas and suggestions gained at the convention will be presented by the delegates in a Congress to be held the weekend of April 10. Also, at that time the Student Leadership Council Barrels, Janet McDermott and Helen Joslin.

Faculty Members Take Active Part In Conventions

Three members of the Clarke faculty will participate in the three-day program of the Catholic Conference on Christian Social Responsibility to be held at St. Ambrose college, Davenport, March 21-24.

Addresses Assembly The Reverend Arthur A. Halbach, Ph.D., chaplain of the college and instructor in religion, will address the general assembly next Monday afternoon on the Recognition of the Worker and His Work.

Sister Mary Teresa Francis, B.V.M., chairman of the community Board of Education, will be chairman and leader of a round table discussion on Catholic Social Teaching and the High School Curriculum.

Sister Mary St. Rose, B.V.M., of the education department, will participate in a panel discussion on elementary education.

Presides at Round Table Sister Mary Constantia, B.V.M., chairman of the French department, will preside at the French sectional meeting of the Catholic Language Teachers Association which will be held at Mercy high school, Chicago, April 2.

Sister Mary Lucilla, B.V.M., chairman of the Spanish department, will participate in the discussion at the Spanish meeting.

Sister Mary St. Maureen, B.V.M., chairman of the commerce department, will represent the college at the Iowa Business Education Conference sponsored by Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls, April 2.

23 Students Form Teachers Chapter

A Clarke chapter of the Iowa Future Teachers association was organized last week under the direction of Sister Mary Francis, B.V.M., chairman of the Education department.

Twenty-three members attended the initial meeting March 11 and elected officers. Mary Rose Purcell was chosen president; Maryann Nachowicz, vice-president; and Rita Flannery, secretary-treasurer.

WAA Sponsors Clarke-Loras Bowling League

"It's a strike" was heard frequently at the Dr. Pepper Bowling Alleys last Saturday when Clarke and Loras students bowled the initial games in the Clarke-Loras Bowling League.

The girls trying to combine strikes and spares were Eleanor Grotkin, Elizabeth Loosbrock, Peggy Gaffney, Helen McMahon, Marion Harding, Shirley Weis, Marianne Nachowicz, Betty Campbell, Dolores Stayer, Joanne Brady, Helen Horosinski, Mary Fran O'Byrne, Kathy Leonard and Charlotte Nemmers.

Kathy Leonard had the highest individual score among the girls with 165. Del Schief led the Loras team with a 198 score.

The League will meet every other Saturday at the Dr. Pepper Bowling Alleys.

Mary McGinnis is business manager for the production. Committees for scenery, lighting, costumes, make-up, properties, posters and publicity will be announced later.

A youth on the campus, Leona Ryan, poses for Andy Pavlin, CHICAGO TRIBUNE photographer, while Mr. Pavlin and his assistant, Miss Mary Skaggs, pose for the COURIER photographer. Mr. Pavlin and Miss Skaggs visited Clarke March 9 to take pictures for the TRIBUNE feature, Youth on the Campus.

Old Irish Tale To Be Broadcast By Radio Club Tomorrow

In honor of St. Patrick's day, Patricia Craemer has prepared an original arrangement of an Irish story, "The Wee Red Man," for tomorrow morning's children's broadcast, Everybody Listens, over Station WKBB at 9:45.

Director Elaine Ripley will also act as announcer and narrator for the skit. The part of Conal O'Donnal will be played by Katy McCarthy, and Deirdre Lagen will be heard in the title role. The supporting characters will all be played by Patricia Regan, with musical accompaniment by Janet Mullen.

The children's play will be immediately preceded by Clarke's regular news program, The Woman's World, in which Joan Geisler will act as master of ceremonies. The production will be directed by Marianne Anderson who will be assisted by reporters Ann Donavon, Joan Delaney and Maryann Nachowicz. Mary McQuaid will occupy the Clarke Corner, and Joanne Brady will take care of publicity.

Last week's Children's broadcast featured an adaptation of the classic "Little Black Sambo" by Deirdre Lagen. The cast included Nancy Lingo,

Sophs Entertain At Informal Party This Evening

Sophomores will entertain at a St. Patrick's Day party this evening in the Clarke Union. Loras College students will be guests.

General chairman of the party is Patricia Burke. Committee chairmen are Mary Redus, invitations; Nancy Lingo and Ann Pinski, refreshments; Pepper Perkins, decorations; Rita Flannery, coat checking; Patricia O'Neill, tickets.

Therese Weigand, Mildred Ann Roth, Nancy and Mary Calkins and Miss Lagen. Rosemary Flynn furnished the musical interlude.

IT HAPPENS HERE

aren't quite so green any more. Now that they have edited their own issue of The Courier they are well on their way to being veteran Clarkites.

Greenbacks . . .

will come in handy to Patricia Jans and Rosemary Wiltgen who will be godmothers for their new nieces Sunday. Other recent "aunties" are Mary Meany and Virginia Wiltgen.

Green With Envy . . .

were Theresa Aldera's friends on March 7 when she received a dozen red roses as a birthday remembrance from a friend at Grinnell.

Wearin' of the Green . . .

was quite in style yesterday in honor of St. Patrick's day. Even the Van Dycks, the Oberbroecklings, the Craemers, the Breithachs, the Goebels, the Johanns, the Tsous, and the Horosinskis were sporting a bit of the Irish color, and proud of it they were, too.

Mary Green . . .

Marion Bartels, Mary Ann Cash, Bobbie Lue Meigh, Rosemarie Van Dyck and Sylvia Tseng, occupants of Room 402 in the Res hall, had the welcome mat out for Jane Greteman who is "going to boarding school" for three weeks while her parents are in Florida. Jane Ann Davidsaver was an honored guest during retreat.

Even though Jane Greteman is only a temporary resident student, she is quickly learning to walk the straight and narrow path. And she has a three by four SLC violation card, procured one of the first nights here, as a reminder.

Greener Pastures . . .

were sought by juniors, sophomores and freshmen who have been shopping for sleeping rooms for next year. All sorts of statistics must be quoted by the present occupants of the rooms they're considering. Is it near enough to the ampicall? Is it warm in winter and cool in spring? Is there a Sister on the wing? Who's going to live next door?

She turned Green . . .

instead of turning a flip, and it was all because of the English literature books which sophomores claim weighs at least 10 pounds. On her way through the gym to the auditorium one afternoon, Dorothy Reed took a one-handed swing on the rings, and the English lit book she carried in the other hand crushed against her ribs and cracked one of them.

Green Grass . . .

was much in demand last week when Andy Pavlin, photographer for the Chicago Tribune's Youth on the Campus feature, and Miss Mary Skaggs, his assistant, visited Clarke. Since the pictures will not be used until April Mr. Pavlin was eager to simulate a spring atmosphere, despite the snowfall of the early morning. The sun shone in the afternoon, though, and Clarke students braved the 25-degree temperature to pose as typical collegians on a spring day.

Green Waters . . .

reflected well trained swimmers and divers in the annual Water Ballet last Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday evenings. A capacity audience was in attendance every night.

The Green Light . . .

in spiritual matters was given to Clarke students March 1 to 5 when the Reverend Lawrence Smith, S.J., of St. Mary's, Kansas, conducted the annual college retreat.
